Horse riding in Argentina

A full day on horseback in the Sierras de Córdoba: rolling hills as far as the eye can see, a dip in a quiet river, caves steeped in history and an asado in the mountains.

Argentina 1 day From €150 per person

The tour

This day takes you riding through the Sierras de Córdoba, on hill trails with wide-open views. The horses are well trained and gentle, suited to riders of every level, and passionate guides look after your safety throughout.

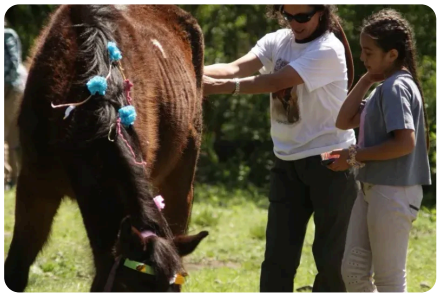

Along the way you discover caves and old shelters once used by the native peoples of these mountains, cool off in a secluded river, then share an asado, the traditional Argentine barbecue, in the middle of the sierras.

The outing is open to adults from 18, solo or in a group. Wear long trousers whatever the season, to protect your legs from scrub and brambles.

What makes it different

- Four hours in the saddle in the Sierras de Córdoba
- Gentle horses, suited to all levels
- An Argentine asado in the open air
- Caves and a river along the way

Day by day

Morning: from Córdoba to the mountains

An 8am bus from Córdoba bus terminal to La Falda. The team meets you at La Falda terminal and drives you to the mountain meeting point. At 10.30am you saddle up for a two-hour ride through the sierras.

Midday: an asado in the open

A break around the fire for an Argentine asado, with the mountains as a backdrop.

Afternoon: river, caves and the ride back

Time by the river, with a swim if you like, and a visit to the caves once used by the native peoples. A two-hour ride back, returning around 6pm.

On site
