Argentina road trip tour

Three days around Mendoza: family-run vineyards, rafting and ziplining or a sunset horse ride, then the road through the Andes to the foot of Aconcagua.

Argentina 3 days From €795 per person

The tour

Mendoza, at the foot of the Andes, is the starting point for this short road trip combining wine, adrenaline and big landscapes. You get there by overnight bus from Córdoba and stay two nights in a hostel, or in a hotel for a supplement.

Day one is all about the vineyards, with visits to family-owned and boutique wineries away from the crowds. On day two you choose your thrill: rafting on the Mendoza River and ziplining at Potrerillos, or a two-hour sunset ride in the Lunlunta Valley followed by an asado criollo. On day three the road climbs towards Aconcagua via Uspallata and Puente del Inca, as far as Laguna de Horcones.

Led by professional guides, the tour is open to adults aged 18 and over, solo or in a group.

What makes it different

- Family-run wineries around Mendoza
- The road through the Andes to Aconcagua
- Rafting and ziplining, or a sunset horse ride
- Professional guides and all gear provided

Day by day

Day 1: Mendoza's wine country

Visits to family-owned and boutique wineries, each with its own story, to share the local passion for wine and tradition in an intimate setting, away from the crowds.

Day 2: rapids or ridges, your choice

Option one: a day of rafting on the Mendoza River and ziplining across the Potrerillos dam, with a bilingual guide, personal insurance and all the gear (wetsuit, safety equipment and a support kayak). Option two: a two-hour sunset ride through the Andean foothills of the Lunlunta Valley, followed by an asado criollo dinner.

Day 3: towards Aconcagua

A Mendoza-style breakfast at Potrerillos overlooking the dam, then a stop in the mountain village of Uspallata and at Puente del Inca, a natural formation in vivid colours. On to Aconcagua Provincial Park for a one-hour walk to Laguna de Horcones, facing the 'Colossus of America', and a picnic in the landscape.
