

Teaching project in Argentina

Location: Cordoba

This project plays a vital role in addressing social inequalities, promoting education, and fostering community development by combining educational strategies with a focus on broader social transformation.

Every day, the organization coordinates social, artistic, and educational workshops for kids and teenagers. Volunteers assist teachers in enhancing the children's competence and awareness in social areas, such as understanding and following societal rules, adjusting their behaviour to various situations, problem-solving, and empathizing with others.

Volunteers also help with homework and participate in art classes. Supporting the children in these areas is vital to giving them the best chance of living independently in the future.

Roles and Responsibilities of the Volunteer:

Foreign volunteers in a socio-educational project can engage in a variety of activities:

- Assist teachers: Volunteers can help teachers of different subjects like English, math, science, sport or arts.
- Conducting Community Outreach: Volunteers can participate in community outreach programs to raise awareness about important social issues or to distribute resources such as books, school supplies, or food.
- Facilitating Cultural Exchange: They can facilitate cultural exchange demonstrations to promote understanding and appreciation of different cultures.
- Assisting with Administrative Tasks: Volunteers can help with administrative tasks such as record-keeping, data entry, or fundraising efforts to ensure the smooth operation of the project.
- Evaluating and Monitoring Progress: They can assist in evaluating the impact of the project by collecting feedback from beneficiaries, observing classroom activities, and documenting progress over time.

Volunteers work 20 - 25 hours per week. There are mornings and/or afternoon shifts. It depends on the needs of the organisation.

Accommodation

Accommodation in a hostel in shared room. The hostel is fully equipped, hot shower, TV and Wi-Fi access available.

We do not offer meals; you will have a full equipped kitchen to cook or a cheap restaurant or a bar to buy food nearby. Supermarkets are open from 8 to 10 pm.

Money

The monetary unit of Argentina is the Peso. On your first day at the city tour, the tour guide can show you where the banks and ATMs are, so that you can take money. Credit cards are normally accepted especially VISA and MasterCard.

The weather

Depending on the time of the year Córdoba could be very hot or very cold. The temperature during summer varies from 29°C to 40°C and the temperature in winters varies from 2°C degrees to 15°C or 18°C. Sometimes you wrongly assume that Latin America is always hot, but this is not true for Argentina. It can be really cold in winter especially for projects that are located in the middle of the mountains.

Things to do in free time

Córdoba is the second largest city in the country. Its Jesuit heritage and its strong Spanish vividness result in a fascinating blend of past and modernity. Córdoba is also a university city, home to several colleges and universities which endow it with a youthful and forward-looking environment on many different aspects. This is the reason why people from Córdoba are kind, friendly, and open-minded, and easily integrate their visitors and students, a really valuable distinctive feature.

The people of Córdoba are known as fun-loving folks with a fondness for cuarteto music, rally car racing, and the drink of Fernet & Coke. Feel free to linger over a long lunch, relax in the square with a coffee or ice cream, and meet a few of the laid back locals.

Its rugged outskirts provide plenty of adventurous activities like parasailing and horseback riding.
